FUNERAL OBSEQUIES.

The Members of the U. S. Cabinet Will Act as Mrs. Harrison's Pallbearers.

Grand Marriage of Edwin Gould and Miss Shrady—A Whole Family Cremated.

Eloped With Three Telephone Girls. Detective Phair's Murderers Convicted.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 26.—The members of the cabinet now in the city met at the State Department this morning to make arrangements for their attendance at the funeral of Mrs. Harrison. It was decided that the cabinet should assemble at the executive mansion on Thursday at 9.30 a.m., and act as honorary pallbearers, with the exception of Secretary Tracy, who has been requested to remain in Washington to act for the cabinet in case anything occurs during the absence of the members. The officers will accompany the funeral to Indianapolis.

A Matter for Just Pride.

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—The Gazette in a leading editorial on Dominion finances says that the existing contract with the Barings and Glyn, Mills &Co., expires this fall, and that the rumor is current that the bank of Montreal may obtain the contract, and trusts that events may prove it to be well founded. The article goes on to say: "Other things being equal it, is desirable that the finances should be in the hands of a Canadian institution. It is a matter of just pride that one of our banks has attained a position of such influence and resources as to be in a position to undertake a matter of this magnitude. The reputation of the Bank of Montreal is world-wide.

No other joint stock bank on this continent compares with it in point of capital and only four or five banks in Europe stand on a par with the parent monetary institution of the Dominion. It is amply able to meet all the requirements of the financial agency of the government, and it will be a source of unusual gratification if events so shape themselves as to cause the Bank of Montreal to undertake the work.

Tories Assembling.

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—There are nearly a score of Conservative members of Parliament in the city. They are from all parts of the Dominion, and represent all kinds of interests. In addition to a blending of orange and green, there are, for instance, Gillies of Nova Scotia and Sproule of East Grey. There are also Lariviere and Dalton McCarthy, who have met in wordy debates in the House on the school and French language questions, although both Tories. It is said that the reconstruction of the Cabinet and the Manitoba school question are the business on which they are here. Premier Abbott's resignation is daily expected.

Premier Davie had an interview with members of the Government to-day, and expects to get through in a week.

Stavely Hill, M.P., of England, who is here on his way back from the Northwest, where he was visiting his cattle ranch, has laid his views before the Government in regard to changing the present system of leasing ranches. He says that the Government should give a proprietory interest instead of leasing land to ranchers. Ranches should be not larger than 5000 acres, instead of 10,000 and upwards, as at present. All settlers should own part of the land and all the rest be used in common, the same as sheep farming is carried on in Scotland.

Manitoba's Senatorship.

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—Mr. J. A. Bernier, of St. Boniface, Man., will be called to the senate this week, succeeding the late Hon. Mr. Girrard. The new senatorship to which Manitoba is entitled by the last census, will not be filled at present, it will be awarded to an English speaking Conservative.

Abbott's Health Better.

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—Star's London special cable says Sir John Abbott is greatly improved in health since his arrival here. He is keeping as quiet as possible. Hon. George Foster dined at the Mansion House last night but did not speak. He says he intends to put a careful statement of Canada's financial position before the British public.

Prospective Neck Stretching.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 26.—The coroner's jury found a verdict of wilful murder against Thomas Wilson and John Burke in the case of the shooting of Detective Phair.

Regina vs. Mercier and Pacaud.

QUEBEC, Oct. 26.—The trial of The Queen vs. Mercier and Pacaud was begun to-day. The court room was crowded and great interest was taken in the case.

Cannot Become a Citizen.

ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 26.—City Justice Franklin M. Danaher handed down an interesting opinion yesterday in denying the application of San Sepo, a Burmese, for naturalization papers. He holds that a native of Burmah, being neither a white alien nor an alien of African nativity, or a person of African descent, cannot be naturalized and admitted to become a citizen of the United States. Sepo has been in this country since he was 15, and is at present studying medicine in the Albany medical college. He intends remaining in this country.

Pleuro-Pneumonia Suspected.

GLASGOW, Oct. 26.—Some alarm has been caused by the reported death from pluero-pneumonia of a Canadian cow on a farm in Fifeshire. The cow reached Dundee at the end of September. The board of agriculture ordered the slaughter of a hundred animals within the area of possible contagion, but the order has been suspended and a final decision has not yet been reached. This incident, coupled with the pleuro-pneumonia case in the United States cattle, is specially unlucky at the present juncture. Trade at Islington to-day was brisker for the best class, but dull for inferior beasts.

Cremated Alive.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.—Fire at 1:20 this morning destroyed a building at the corner of Central Avenue and Harriet street, occupied by James Shannon and John McGinty, saloonkeepers, and Frank Maun, barber. Shannon and family lived in the upper section of the structure. They were burned to death, being overcome by smoke before assistance could be rendered. The dead are James Shannon, 38; Mrs. Shannon, 37; James Shannon, jr. John Shannon, 4. The bodies were unrecognizable when recovered. The financial loss is $3000, insurance the same.

VANCOUVER VERITIES

A Dyking Contract—Rev. Pedley's Lecture—The Gold Case.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 26.—C Paradis has been found guilty of stealing $150 from North Bend Hotel, by Judge Walkem at Kamloops, and sentenced to 18 months' hard labor.

McLean Bros., of Vancouver, have a contract for dyking Langley. The dyke is to be half a mile in length, eight feet high and 30 feet wide at the bottom, enclosing six hundred acres.

Rev. J. W. Pedley's lecture on Hugo's Les Miserables last night was pronounced the best that has been given in Vancouver.

During the past three months 1463 loads of garbage have been destroyed at the city crematory, at a cost of $737.

The case of Gold vs. the Bank of B.C. was before Mr. Justice McCreight this morning and adjourned because sufficient jurors did not appear; they will be fined. Gold gave a check for $100, but found himself charged with four hundred. He claims the check was raised, and sues the bank for the difference. It is thought that the case has something to do with the Roome and Bonner defalcations.

The finance committee have appointed an assessor, but the council last night refused to accede to the appointment and directed that applications be invited. The present council have made all the appointments this year, contrary to the usual practice, without calling for applications, but now there seems to be a change in policy.

The council have contracted for broken stone for street paving, and as the appropriation for that purpose is exhausted, have arranged that bills shall not be presented till next year. A large-sized deficit by New Year's is predicted. The auditor's balance sheet showed a deficit of $46,000 at the end of August.

Political Cheats.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 26.—Nine more officers of registration were arrested by U.S. marshals yesterday afternoon and evening for refusing to show their reports to the Federal supervisors. Chief Supervisor Macalister held each in $3000 bail for appearance at court. Bail was furnished and all were released. One of the men arrested is a Republican. This is the only Republican arrested so far, and the proceeding in this case is regarded as a broad farce, designed to throw a slight flavor of non-partizanship over the outrageous interference of the officials.

Another Rep. Goes Dem.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Chairman Harrity, of the National Democratic committee, gathered this morning from Isadore Jacobs, who has for many years been one of the leading Republicans in San Francisco, that he is going to vote the Democratic ticket this year, and is doing all he can for Cleveland and Stevenson. He will carry a number of votes with him.

'Frisco's Chinatown Singed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—Fire this morning destroyed a third of a block in Chinatown. The buildings were occupied by Chinese merchants and restaurants; there were also several lodging houses. The loss is estimated at between $60,000 and $70,000. It is believed that several Chinese perished in the flames, and the firemen are searching for the bodies.

Portraits of Columbus.

There are more portraits of Columbus than birthplaces of Homer, and they represent him in a variety of aspects, swart and fair, bearded and shaven. The souvenir coins have a replica of the Lotto portrait, which is smooth-faced and long haired. Closely resembling this is the portrait Clements R. Markham, the English geographer, had the fortune to discover in a villa at Como, on the Italian lake of that name, which he pronounces the only authentic portrait. Mr. Markham says concerning it:—Only one authentic portrait of Columbus is known to have been painted. The Italian historian, Paulus Jovius, who was his contemporary, collected a gallery of portraits of worthies of his time at his villa on the lake of Como. Among them was a portrait of the admiral. There is an early engraving from it and very indifferent copies in the Uffizi at Florence and at Madrid. But until quite recently I do not think that the original was known to exist. It, however, never left the family, and when the last Giovio died it was inherited by her grandson, who is the present possessor. I was so fortunate as to see it when I was at Como, and also to obtain a photograph of it. Here we have the head of a venerable man, with thin gray hair, the forehead high, the eyes pensive and rather melancholy. It was thus that he doubtless appeared during the period that he was in Spain after his return in chains or during the last years of his life.

PROFESSIONAL OPINIONS.

Doctor A. T. Watt Tells What He Knows of the Recent Outbreak of Smallpox.

What Precautions Were Taken at the Ross Bay Suspect Station by Dr. Hasell.

Doctors Agree That an Infectious Disease Hospital is a Necessity.

Dr. M. S. Wade continued his evidence before the Royal Commission after the TIMES went to press last evening. He said as soon as the people had been removed from an infected house he had the place fumigated with sulphur, using from six to eight pounds for an ordinary room. Some of the houses were fumigated three or four times. The bedding that the patient had used was removed and burned after the first fumigation. All fabrics were spread out in the rooms and fumigated. He was present in most cases when the work was done. He found that the men were not taking particular pains in doing the work, so he thought it advisable to be present himself. He had to have several houses refumigated as the men had not been careful. Neither a medical man nor nurse contracted the disease. He considered himself exempted through thorough vaccination. After visiting a smallpox patient he removed the clothes he had been wearing, fumigated them and took a bath. Twelve cases developed among the suspects after the 15th. Two of these developed in town and 10 at Ross Bay. Dr. Hassell took charge of the Ross Bay station on the 25th of July. He had some trouble in persuading some of the suspects to go to Ross Bay. He had to visit some of them three or four times. He was of opinion that the patients and suspects should be isolated, the former at a hospital and the latter in a station. The station could be in connection with the hospital without being too near. He would think all suspects could be quarantined together. If a man failed to get the disease from one breath he would not likely get it from a second breath. No one caught the disease at Ross Bay from another suspect. A suspect who exhibited symptoms of the disease, but who could not be said to have the disease, should be quarantined in a separate room from the other suspects. In times of an epidemic the medical men should be compelled to report suspected cases of smallpox. Scarlet fever, measles, typhus fever, cholera, diptheria, whooping cough, chicken pox and other cases of contagious diseases should also be reported to the health officer. He did not think typhoid fever arose from sewer gas as sewer gas, but if the sewer gas came from a place where there was typhoid fever, it might cause an outbreak.

The Chief Justice was of opinion that sewage gas breathed while awake was very different from sewage gas breathed while asleep. In all the notorious cases of typhoid fever he knew of the patient had slept in a place where there was sewer gas before contracting the disease.

Dr. Wade believed in vaccination for infants and re-vaccination. He would not suggest that people arriving in the province should be vaccinated unless there was an epidemic, although it would be advisable to do so at all times. Cremation would, he thought, be the best way of disposing of the dead. He would favor burial in the quarantine ground if cremation was not allowed. Typhoid fever and diptheria is conveyed by milk and therefore he would say it was advisable to inspect all dairies. There should be legislation to govern the dairies and an inspector to see that the rules were carried out. It was no wonder the disease spread after 200 passengers landed here from a steamer on which there had been a case of smallpox. To prevent an invasion of cholera the city should be put in a sanitary condition, the water supply attended to, houses kept clean, and the people impressed with the necessity of personal cleanliness, the use of only boiled water or milk, and the isolation of patients and those who had been exposed to the disease. One hospital with separate wards would do for all kinds of contagious diseases. The wards at the Jubilee Hospital are not adapted for contagious diseases. In an infectious hospital pure air should go in and pure air come out, the impure air from the hospital being destroyed before being allowed to escape. If a hospital was built on these plans he would not stipulate any distance from other residences. Of course the ideas of the people would have to be considered and the hospital erected out of the centre of the city.

The Chief Justice again pointed out that the commission was not sitting to distribute blame. It was admitted that mistakes had been made on all sides.

The commission adjourned at 5 p. m. until this morning.

TO-DAY'S SESSION.

Dr. A. T. Watt took the stand when the Royal Commission opened this morning. The first case that came under his notice was a girl in the Refuge Home, Georgie Campbell, on July 4th. The pustules were just appearing. He notified the health officer, who had the house quarantined that afternoon. He gave orders that no one was to leave or enter the house. The next case he saw was a Mrs. Calvin on Quadra street. That was on the 7th of July. He reported it to Dr. Milne as a suspicious case. The patient was a colored woman, and it was very hard to tell whether she had the disease or not. On the 9th of July he commenced under Dr. Milne's instructions to inspect the boats and trains. At first he inspected only the Vancouver boats. After the 17th of July he inspected all the boats, under instructions from Dr. Davie. He had been examining some boats before the order-in-council. No cases of smallpox were found on the boats and trains. Nearly two-thirds of the passengers had been recently vaccinated. He examined the passengers after Dr. Davie resigned as provincial health officer. Only about 20 passengers objected emphatically to be vaccinated. Those that would not be vaccinated were not allowed to board the boat. On the 30th of August he visited a smallpox patient on the Burnside road. The patient was a colored man named Harrison. The patient had been at the Gordon hotel on Johnson street. The man was sent to the Jubilee station, where he died. He had been out in the country for four days when Dr. Watt saw him. Mrs. Teporten, wife of the proprietor of the Gordon hotel had the smallpox at the time. The cabin in which Harrison was found was burned down. He visited Ross Bay suspect station several times. The accommodation was very good, but at times there was not enough rooms. The Gordon hotel was closed after Harrison's case was discovered, the place disinfected, and six people sent to the suspect station. There had not been any fresh cases for three weeks before the 22nd of August. After that there were a few cases. The Chinese boy that he found on the 2nd of September had been sick in the city for three weeks. When found he was capable of conveying infection. The rash must have come out on the Chinese boy about the 10th of July. The case had never been reported. The boy was found in a store on Herald street, west of Government. Three cases broke out shortly afterwards in the same block that the Chinese boy was found in. The boy said he came from China on the Batavia on the 6th of July. Some of the Chinamen said that the boy was sick when he left the boat. On the 8th of July the boy was taken out in the country. When he found the boy on the 2nd of September he was sent to the Jubilee station and kept there for two weeks. After Dr. Davie's resignation only the Chinese and Indian passengers were vaccinated. After the 1st of September he received orders that vaccination was not necessary.

Dr. Hasell attended his first case of smallpox in Victoria on June 30th. The patient was a boy named Hilton, who lived on Cadboro Bay road, outside the city limits. The boy called at witness' office on the 29th and complained of headache. He sent him to bed. The next day the boy had a rash all over him. A couple of days later he discovered that the boy had smallpox and therefore reported the case. The case was a very light one. The boy had been to Vancouver on a picnic. There was no quarantine at the time, and as there was no provincial officer, he, (witness) told the people to quarantine themselves. About ten days later, he saw the boy's father down town. He, witness, telephoned to the police to have the man arrested for eluding quarantine. The next case he dealt with was a boy named Cameron. That was on the 6th of July. The boy had been ill for three days before witness saw him. The boy's house was quarantined after he had reported the case to Dr. Milne. He, witness, attended the boy at his house until July 16, when he was sent to the quarantine station. He afterwards attended a man named Brown from the steamer Yosemite. Brown was quarantined in his house for two days, and then sent to the Jubilee station. He had had the disease on him for several days when he came off the boat. He saw Miss Sweet when he was attended Hon. Mr. Vernon. He was appointing inspector by the Government and went to inspect the Albert Head station on the 22nd instant. Albert Head station was not a proper place for a quarantine station. It could hardly be called a quarantine station. It is not safe to remove a patient in any kind of a conveyance to the station which is 16 miles from the city. The station is on a rock and therefore there is no possibility of drainage or water. These two essentials of a quarantine station are not obtainable at Albert Head.

The commissioners declined to admit the report which Dr. Hasell made on the Albert Head station, holding that it opened up the way to making the enquiry a personal squabble.

"After leaving Albert Head I went to the Ross Bay suspect station as resident physician, under direction of Dr. Davie. There had been no resident physician there before, but Dr. Wade and Dr. Crompton had been visiting there. There were 50 or 60 patients in the place. There was one large, rough L-shaped station and a number of tents pitched about anyhow. The sanitary arrangements were poor and filthy. I laid off the station like a military camp, numbering the tents and lines."

The doctor here identified a plan of the station.

I got things in order and observed the necessary rules of isolation. The extent of the grounds was, I think, 13 acres. I took charge on July 25 and the last case came in on August 1st. I had a total of 113 persons there including guards. The guards went on in three watches of five each, with a chief constable. I made an inspection daily with the constable and my clerk. Nobody escaped. After general inspection in the morning, all came up for personal inspection in the afternoon. This was very carefully conducted. When people came there they would be thrown in contact with other suspects. Sometimes this was at meals. After a case of smallpox it was sent off to quarantine. New arrivals were vaccinated the first day. I certainly consider vaccination a protection. In the case of a man already infected vaccination moderates the disease. It was a safeguard for those suspects who were not infected, but were thrown with suspects.

The doctor then quoted the case of a family of six children in which three who were promptly vaccinated were saved, and three who were not took the disease

"We found arm to arm vaccination to be most trustworthy."

The Doctor quoted a number of cases

Dr. McEachran, being spoken to in regard to the alleged discovery of pleuro-pneumonia among Canadian cattle landed at Dundee, declared emphatically that the disease did not exist, and to his knowledge has never existed in Canada, except in 1886, when it was discovered in the Quebec quarantine among some imported cattle.

The steamer Britannia, of the Atlantic line, from Boston for Halifax, struck Tuesday on Racehorse Shoal. She came off soon afterwards, but was so badly damaged on the bottom that she was beached in Barrington Bay to prevent her sinking. Her passengers and crew were safely landed. The Britannia is considered one of the finest steamers of her size afloat. She is 2000 tons register, and cost over $300,000.

Robert Pickford, president of the Board of Trade, presided, and prominent Liberals occupied the platform, including Premier Fielding, Hon. A. Jones, at one time Minister of Militia, and Hon. W. The following special cable appears in the Globe: The Grand Trunk report, just issued, says the visit of Sir Henry Tyler and Director Hubbard will result in further economies, below which, however, it will be impossible to go. The directors themselves will reduce their fees one-third till the dividend is paid on the second preference stock. The capital account cannot be wholly closed, but the outlay is strictly limited to the amount absolutely necessary to the interests of the business.

An examination of the books of George Pyke, accountant of the Imperial Bank, Toronto, who was missing from his place of business a few days ago, shows that for a number of years he had manipulated the funds of the bank, and involved them in his own speculation. The bank is amply protected by securities, but it is supposed that his misappropriations amounted to something in the neighborhood of $10,000. Pyke is supposed to be in one of the larger American cities in hiding. It is not believed that he has any money with him, but on the contrary, he is in almost destitute circumstances.

From the Queen.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 26.—Among the many messages of condolence received at the White House yesterday was one from Queen Victoria, always among the first to extend sympathy to the bereaved. She sent from her Highland castle the following cable message: Balmoral, Oct. 25, 1892. General Harrison, President of the United States, Washington, D.C. I have heard with the deepest regret of your sad loss and sincerely sympathize with you in your grief. (Signed) Victoria R. and I." This was succeeded by a message from the Pope, who, through Cardinal Rampolla, chief of his household, requested Cardinal Gibbons to say to President Harrison that he "sent his heartfelt condolence." Messages from ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland were followed by telegrams of condolence from Vice-President Morton, Hon. Whitelaw Reed, and many others.

The remains of Mrs. Harrison will be placed in the casket this morning and transferred to the east room, where they will remain until after the services to-morrow morning. Many floral tributes from friends have been received, and will be placed about the casket. Messages of sympathy and condolence, by mail and telegraph, continue to arrive at the White House. They come from all parts of the country and from Canada, and represent all classes and conditions of people. The members of the Cabinet met with Secretary of State Foster this morning to consult and determine the details of the trip to Indianapolis. All the members were present except Secretary Elkins.

Germany's Military Strength.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The official details of the new army bill were published yesterday. The peace effective force from October 1, 1893, to March 31, 1895, is fixed at 492,068. The service of the infantry is generally reduced to two years. The adoption of this measure is necessary because the former military preponderance of Germany has been lost. The war strength of France is placed at 4,033,000, and of Russia at 4,556,000. When the reorganization under the bill is completed the German army will have attained a strength of 4,400,000, whereas France will not be able to exceed its present strength. The bill retains the power of the military authorities to keep men in the ranks until they have completed the third year of service. This will be done as a punishment for offenders under the military code.

Foundered on the Banks.

ST. JOHNS, N.F., Oct. 25.—The cod fishing schooner E. B. Phillips, owned by Geo. Moore, of Hearts Content, N. F., foundered in a recent gale, while at anchor off Newfoundland banks, with all on board. The following are the names of the unfortunate men: Edgar Hopkins, captain, leaving a wife and one child; Archibald Hopkins, unmarried; John Hopkins, leaving a wife and child; Wm. Babstock, wife; L. Babstock, wife; Frank Babstock, wife and child; John Burrage, Joseph Piercy, Thomas Legge, Silas Ryall, James Ryall, Ambrose Frost and Anson Frost, unmarried. The E. B. Phillips was an American vessel, about nine years old, and said to be in an unfit shape for bank fishing. She was not surveyed in the spring and was in a leaky condition during her second trip.

The Pope's Temporal Power.

MADRID, Oct. 25.—The Marquis of Boglio, Italian ambassador, protested, a short time ago, against the speeches made at the recent congress of Spanish Catholics in favor of restoring the temporal power of the Pope and against the projected organization in Spain of a society to that end. Such a society, he said, would be a direct affront to the Italian Government. To this protest the Duke of Tetuan, Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied that the Government could not act in the matter of discussion in the Catholic congress, as the laws of Spain permitted free speech. The society in question, however, would not be tolerated, as it would not be legal.

Tennyson's Vacant Shoes.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—In an interview to-day William Morris, the Socialist poet, whose name has been prominently mentioned in connection with the poet-laureateship, said that he decidedly desired the abolition of the office. Few persons, he added, would trouble themselves about anybody's holding the post if Lord Tennyson and Wordsworth had not held it. A literary friend of the late Robert Browning states that Browning strongly favored the continuance of the laureateship, as it was, in his opinion, a great advantage to the literature of England.

Fire Along the Docks.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A fire on the new Sun wharf, London docks, destroyed the property, valued at about $200,000. The flames were not extinguished until after a long struggle on the part of the firemen, and fire engines were summoned to the scene from every district in London. The wharf property in the neighborhood is very valuable and much fear prevailed lest the flames should spread. The corn and malting in the building of the Sheppard Maize Malting Co. was burned, and the four floors and the roof of the building were destroyed.

No Reason Given.

HAMBURG, Oct. 25.—The commander of Hamburg and Altona military district has for some unexplained reason forbidden the soldiers of the garrisons to visit any one of seventeen taverns and dancing halls. The order has created much discontent both among the soldiers and the persons whose trade is interfered with by the apparently arbitrary decree.

Nellie's Mother Knew What to Do.

Little Nellie came home from school and told her mother that she had a very sore throat. Indeed, Nellie had caught a bad cold; she was hoarse, and when she spoke her voice was scarcely heard. Nellie's dear mother knew exactly what to do; she was prepared for dangers resulting from colds. She had three other little ones, and therefore had acquired a goodly amount of experience with children.

The good mother at once proceeded to doctor her daughter with that never-failing remedy, Harvard Bronchial Syrup, which was always kept in the house.

When Nellie awoke next morning the sore throat and hoarseness were banished, and she was quite well enough to go to school.

The above facts are worthy the attention of every mother who has the management and care of young children. An expenditure of twenty-five cents for a bottle of Harvard Bronchial Syrup will often save hours and days of suffering and sickness. No other cough remedy gives such satisfaction in the home; no other can give such instant relief. Your druggist should keep it in stock; ask for it.

A Man of Great Nerve.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Theatrical people and a good many others who have followed the professional fortunes of "Billy" West, the ministrel, and one time husband of Fay Templeton, will be surprised to learn that once again, and for the third time, he is about to enter wedlock. Mr. West will be married at 4 o'clock to-morrow at his house in Bensonhorst, to Miss Emma Hanley, an actress, who made her debut as one of the daughters in "Adonis." Since then she has sung in comic opera and appeared in farce comedy. Her latest engagement was in the "Dazzler." West first became prominent through marriage to Fay Templeton, the comic opera star. His divorce from that actress is still remembered. West subsequently married a Miss Morrison, who died two years ago at the Continental Hotel in this city.

Argentine Revolutionists.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 25.—Gov. Rojas, of Santiago del Estero, is still in prison and the revolutionists are practically in control of the state. The national cabinet discussed the question in Santiago del Estero, and there was a division as to the proper course to pursue. A majority favored federal intervention, and Finance Minister Romero resigned, and the executive asked power from the national congress to intervene. It was granted. The governors of all the provinces have been called upon to have the national guard ready for service. Probably congress will appoint a commission to enquire into the state of affairs in the province. The situation in the province is grave and there is liable to be serious trouble before it is settled.

Balfour's Appeal Dismissed.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Court of Queen's Bench has dismissed the appeal of Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, M. P. for East Manchester, and formerly Chief Secretary for Ireland, from the decision of Mr. Justice Pollock, refusing Mr. Balfour's application for an order directing Prof. Monroe, the delegate's Liberal candidate in the the East Manchester election, to furnish Mr. Balfour a list of the charges of bribery which Prof. Monroe alleged against agents of Mr. Balfour in the election, and on the strength of which Prof. Monroe is contesting Mr. Balfour's election.

Eloped With Three Women.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Geo. L. Simmons, for 14 years an employee of the Chicago Telephone Co., eloped to-day with three telephone girls. They are sisters named Leyden. Simmons left a wife and family. The girls lived for some time in a flat at No. 125 Twenty fourth street. Mr. Simmons, it is said, visited them frequently.

Gloried in Murder.

LONDON, Oct 25.—The Morning News prints an interview with Joan Patrick Haynes, a witness in the Neill Cream case. Haynes says that Neill had remarked to him once: "I have killed lots of that cattle," referring to dissolute girls. "All of that class are made to be killed."

Very Affecting.

Aid for the Republicans.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Col. Elliot F. Sheppard was one of the callers at Mr. Carter's headquarters yesterday. It was his first appearance there during the campaign. It is understood that he left a check for a large amount with Mr. Carter. Four years ago Colonel Sheppard contributed over $75,000 to the Republican campaign fund, but up to yesterday he had given nothing to the Republican cause this year.

METHODIST MINISTRY CALLS.

Change of Field by the Methodist Clergymen in the Province.

The following Methodist ministers will be placed in the province probably next year:

Rev. Solomon Cleaver, M.A., late of the Niagara Conference, has been invited to become the pastor of the Pandora Avenue Methodist church, Victoria, and it is understood has signified his willingness to accept the appointment.

Rev. Coverdale Watson, now of that church, has been called to the pastorate of the Homer Street Methodist church in Vancouver. He has accepted the invitation of the board of managers.

Rev. John F. Betts, ex-president of the B. C. Conference, has been invited to the Centennial Methodist church, Victoria, the appointment to take effect from the conference of 1893. He has accepted.

Rev. Walter W. Baer, pastor of the Wallace Street church of Nanaimo, has received and accepted a call to the Princess Street Methodist church in Vancouver.

Rev. Robert R. Maitland, now of Homer Street church, Vancouver, has been invited to the pastorate of the Nanaimo Methodist church, the appointment to date from June, 1893. He has signified his acceptance of the call. The Rev. Mr. Maitland is one of the foremost Methodist preachers in the province.

EDISON VS. WESTINGHOUSE.

An Interesting Fight Between the Two Companies.

Local electricians are very much interested in a new feature in the fight between the big Edison and Westinghouse companies. A few weeks ago the United States Supreme Court rendered a decision declaring the Westinghouse incandescent light an infringement on the Edison patents. It was a great victory for the Edison people, and was regarded as rather a crushing defeat for the Westinghouse company. The latter have, however, "sprung a surprise" on their opponents. They have obtained patents for a lamp in which the explosive platinum wire is done away with, and simple iron wire is substituted. The lamp is also made in two parts, so that a broken wire with its holder can be removed from the glass globe by anyone and another wire substituted. They also claim as an additional advantage that the plain iron wire will hold the light better than the platinum wire now in use. The cheapness of the new lamp will be appreciated when it is stated that platinum, of which the present wires are made, costs more than gold.

Victorians who understand the business say that if the Westinghouse people do what they promise they will drive the others out of the business. The owners of the new light claim to already have machinery made to manufacture the lamps on the same principle as American watches are cut out, and that they will be able when started to turn out 3000 a day.

THE CHINESE GAME.

To the Editor:—After an absence of a week I returned and found, as I confidently expected I would, that there is no abatement of Chinese lottery gambling in this city. The many "winners," who vainly hope to "get away" with large sums of Chinamen's money by the investment of a few dimes in their swindling scheme, still hover about the lottery joints like moths about the destructive flame. The unreasoning cupidity of these gullibles is very great, and is a matter for wonderment in this age of reason, especially in this our boasted land of education and enlightenment. Verily, the heathen do wonder and chuckle that they can find so many "gudgeons" amongst us. Truthfully it is said that "experience is the only school in which fools will learn, and they will hardly learn even in that." If our legal protectors could only be induced or harassed into doing their bounden duty in regard to this imported vice, and all other vices, the moral infants or foolish imbeciles who are victims thereto would be rescued from many sorrows and our escutcheon would be the brighter. Victoria would be a bright and shining light among the cities of the nations, and many of the better class of people coming to our western shore would hasten to identify themselves with us. Then the heathen might rage unavailingly and our boodling officials might hang their harps on a willow tree or go across the line into "free America," where boodling is industriously engaged in by the rulers, and the "sovereign people" (?) seem powerless to prevent it; where statesmen of the Boss Tweed ilk rise, flourish and rarely are punished for their malfeasance in office; where "boodle" is both god and king, and its possession generally regarded as of paramount importance; where officials, gamblers, liquorites and scallawags generally combine to run things their own way and by their actions continually express their principles in the chaste language of one of their number, to wit:—"The people be damned!" May righteousness obtain and reign in Victoria. J. P. Cooper.

THE LEISURE HOUR.

To the Editor:—There cannot be a doubt but that the happiness of communities and of individuals is largely dependent upon the manner in which the leisure hour is spent. In forming, therefore, an estimate of the condition of a community, and of individuals, it is not necessary to know what they do when employed, inasmuch as that always means about the same thing, involving merely more or less time of toil, but it will be of first importance to know what they do when not employed. It is the idle hour that tells the tale. The requirements and entertainments of that leisure hour which so often stamps its character and leaves its impress, has never been sufficiently recognized, a neglect that has entailed ills innumerable and required the whole armory of the religious and moral world to be put in motion to counteract bad influences, often indeed when too late. Some persons, happily, possess resources within themselves, and know how to turn that leisure hour to good account; others, unfortunately, devoid of such resources, fall into bad habits and come to grief.

In our city of Victoria many a bright man, with all the adaptations for usefulness and success, but having no resources to fall back upon in the idle hour, has fallen a victim to drink, late hours and bad company, and come to an inglorious end. We have at the present time a host of such men, and, sad to say, when any of these veterans of the bachanal army die out, recruits spring up to fill the ranks and supply the vacancy. Intellectual pursuits for men with brains thus unfitted for mental exercise, are of course quite out of the question. All that would be required by them is more whiskey, and more schooners of beer to minister to their vitiated appetite. Now, most of us have our besetting sins, but when that besetting sin means an inordinate desire for drink it is well nigh incurable; the moral stamina to recuperate upon is wanting, but if there be no effectual cure, could there not have been timely prevention? To use a word from Shakespeare "That is the question."

If philanthropists, humanitarians, temperance advocates, etc., cannot find some means, by inducing a taste for reading, or other devices, to supply the needs of the leisure hour before the mischief is done, it is to be feared their various nostrums afterwards will be too late. Seldom, if ever, has there been a city more full of cures and remedies for social disorder than our city of Victoria; seldom one so devoid of proper organizations and institutions for prevention of such demoralization, as if by their absence it was intended to show the efficiency of blue ribbonism, ground temperance lectures, and the pledge as cures when the trouble had taken place. Moral—"prevention is better than the cure." B. K. W.

OUR PROSPECTS.

To the Editor:—The unanimity with which compulsory vaccination is advocated before the commission by those doctors who have given evidence is something delightful. There is, to be sure, an exception in Dr. Crompton, who is manly enough to allow the same liberty of conscience in matters medical as is universally conceded in matters religious, but his brethern are unanimous. It is to be observed, though, that their evidence is confined to mere statements of opinion. They give no reasons for their opinions, and it does not appear that they have been cross-examined for reasons. It would be a relief even to hear one of them declare that although unfortunate and often irreparable damage is done by vaccination, in his judgment the good outweighs the bad, but there is nothing of the kind. The doctors think so; the doctors are infallible; ergo, compulsory vaccination we ought to have.

Dr. Hugh Watt so far relents as to say that vaccination of incoming passengers will not be necessary "in ordinary times." Where, Mr. Editor, is the boasted liberty of a British subject? Where, in any other quarter of the world, are incoming passengers vaccinated at any time? Where would it be possible—where would it be borne—except in Victoria, comparatively isolated as she is and unapproachable except by "incoming" over one or other of certain well-defined routes? Are we to receive permission to live from the health officers? Another good idea is the apparent desire to have hospitals for and to isolate patients suffering from pretty nearly every disease except cold in the head and housemaid's knee. Unless this sort of thing is stopped it will come to such a pass that the inhabitants of Victoria will have to go out to Ross Bay to live, and leave the city proper to be occupied by the sufferers and suspects. Hugh R. Walker.

AMATEUR DRAMATICS.

Last Evening's Performance Creditable to all Concerned.

The entertainment held last evening in the cathedral school room in aid of dioscesan mission fund, was a grand success. The room being filled to its utmost capacity by a large and fashionable audience. The first part was a concert, in which all the performances acquitted themselves most creditable. The mandolin duet by Professor Borelli and Mr. Ball receiving a rapturous encore. The dramatic part of the programme was rendered entirely by children, and in a manner that delighted and surprised the audience, who were not prepared for so much excellence in such young amateurs. The King's part was taken by Kay Worlock, whose serio-comic rendition of the character was intensely amusing. His beautiful voice was much admired. Maurice Berkeley, as Sir Dagobert, was good, and his rendering of the rather difficult character, perfect. Reginald Hayward made a capital Tuftee, and got off some hits which were highly appreciated. Miss Katy Warlock, as Zara, was a charming princess, and quite won the affections of the audience by her graceful acting. A magnificent bouquet was presented to her. Cecil Berkeley owing to a shortness of performers took a double part, that of Toadee and afterwards the Dragon. In both parts he excelled, showing talent that many older persons might envy. The Dragon was very comical and caused great laughter. The courtiers sustained their parts well. Altogether it was a most enjoyable evening. The children were trained by Mrs. Berkeley.

The Marriage of the Season.

New York, Oct. 26.—The notable wedding of the day will be that of Mr. Edwin Gould to Miss Sarah C. Shrady. The prospective bride is the adopted daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George F. Shrady, and the marriage ceremony will be performed in the front drawing room of their residence, No. 8 East 16th street, at 8 p.m. The house will be trimmed with a profusion of rare blossoms and plants; many of them are to be brought down from the greenhouses at Mr. Jay Gould's country seat at Irvington. Only 100 guests, all told, will attend the wedding to-night. Miss Shrady is an extremely pretty girl, and is in her 19th year. She will wear a superb wedding dress. It is of the richest white satin, with countless ruffles of lace edging the inner border of the long train. The low, rounded corsage is filled with point lace, and the front skirt is covered with the same lace. The point lace veil to be worn is very wide and long and will be held with an orange blossom wreath and diamond ornaments. Rev. Robert Collier, of the Church of the Messiah, will perform the ceremony. A sad incident in connection with this wedding is the death of one of the young girls selected as a bridesmaid. An unusually large number of handsome wedding presents have been received at the Shrady residence. Mr. Edwin Gould is the second son of Jay Gould, and is 28. He and his bride of to-day met just after Christmas last year at one of a series of dances arranged by Mrs. Shrady. It is understood that the marriage is very agreeable to Jay Gould.

Are You Doing Your Duty, Dear Mother?

Are you doing your duty to your hepless infant, dear mother? Are you using every possible means to secure for your child health, strength and happiness?

You are perhaps inclined to complain of baby's crossness and bad temper. Let us assure you that this is owing to no fault of baby; the fault is yours, simply because baby is not properly fed. Its restlessness and bad temper arise from bad digestion. You are not feeding baby right; it asks for a food that it can relish and assimilate readily. If it could speak, it would say, "give me Lactated Food."

This favorite Lactated Food is life and happiness to infants. They grow fast and sleep well when it is fed to them; all bad temper and peevishness will be forever banished.

Go, dear mother, this very day, and procure a package of this life-giving food, and mark well the change it produces after it is used a few days.

NO. 173.

A BY-LAW

To enable the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes therein set forth.

Whereas it is necessary that the streets and sidewalks should be maintained and bridges improved and constructed, and whereas an insufficient sum of the present year's unexpended revenue is at this time available for such work, it is therefore deemed expedient to raise a sum of money for the above purposes.

And whereas for the purposes aforesaid it is intended to raise by way of loan upon the credit of the city the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

And whereas it will require the sum of $1,289.06 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the debt and interest as hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole ratable property of the said Corporation of the City of Victoria according to the revised assessment roll, for the year 1891, was $17,563,148.

And whereas it will require an annual special rate of 3-40th of a mill in the dollar for the payment of the interest and the creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said interest debt, according to the Municipal Act, 1892.

And whereas it is intended to reduce the general rate so that the said Special rate shall not increase the total rate of taxation.

Be it therefore enacted by the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

Section 1.—It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow upon the credit of the said Corporation, by way of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same as a loan, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $25,000.00 currency, or sterling money at the rate of $4.86 2-3rds dollars to the one pound sterling, and to cause all such sums so raised or received to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

Section 2.—It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of $25,000.00 either in currency or sterling money (at the rate of $4.86 2-3 dollars to the one pound sterling) as may be required, each of the said debentures being of the amount of $1,000 or its sterling equivalent at the rate aforesaid, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation and signed by the Mayor thereof.

Sec. (3).—The said debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the date hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Corporation in the City Hall, Victoria, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, and the signature of the Mayor or of the Clerk of the Corporation respectively to the coupons may be affixed by printed, stamped or lithographed fac simile.

Section 4.—The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the said Treasurer.

Sec. (5). For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest to become due thereon, an equal special rate of 3-40ths of a mill in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the City of Victoria during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

Section 6.—This By-law shall before the final passage thereof receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided for by the Municipal Act, 1892, and shall take effect on the 11th day of October, 1892.

Section 7.—This By-law may be cited as the "Street Loan By-Law, 1892."

Passed the Municipal Council this 28th day of September, 1892.

Received the assent of and confirmed by the Municipal Electors on the 11th day of October, 1892.

Reconsidered, adopted and finally passed the Municipal Council on the 12th day of October, A.D. 1892.

The above is a true copy of a by-law passed by the Municipal Council of the City of Victoria on the 12th day of October, 1892, and all persons are hereby required to take notice that anyone desirous of applying to have such by-law or any part thereof quashed, must make his application for that purpose to the Supreme Court within one month next after the publication of this by-law in the British Columbia Gazette, or he will be too late to be heard in that behalf.

THE PRESIDENCY.

Two weeks from to-day the people of the United States will probably have a pretty accurate idea as to who will be their president for the next four years. Unless the contest is much closer than usual, the day after the battle should furnish at least sufficient data for an estimate of the chances. From all the calculations so far offered by both sides, and making allowance for interruptions to the ordinary course of politics, it seems that the deciding of the contest will again rest with New York state. What New York's vote will be is so far mere guess-work; there has been nothing like a reliable estimate of the relative strength of the parties. Republicans a while ago counted largely on the quarrels of the Democrats for aid, but now they seem to depend more on the growing Republican feeling in the state outside of New York city and on the conservative instincts of business, which they expect to find taking alarm at the idea of tariff and coinage changes. What these factors amount to no man can presume to say with certainty, but it appears to us that the Republicans have only too good a chance of success. We shall be ready to confess ourselves mistaken if Harrison and Reid do not carry New York state and with it the whole country. There is, however, a possibility that the People's Party may cause an important diversion in favor of the Democrats. A comparatively small amount of success for it in certain states will throw the election of a president into Congress, if it does not secure to the Democrats a direct victory at the polls. But counting all possible chances, we cannot find as good ground to hope for Democratic success as we should like.

In the meantime the contending forces have paused a moment in their strife to grieve for the death of Mrs. Harrison. However bitterly they may feel towards each other, all are agreed in testifying to the estimable character of this lady of the White House, who had made for herself countless friends through her kindly nature and general worth. The warring parties are equally unanimous in sympathizing with the afflicted President, to whom so great a sorrow has come just as the contest is closing.

SMALLPOX IN TORONTO.

They have a slight smallpox scare in Toronto, and it is worthy of note that that many of the incidents, such as official laches and medical opinions, are on all fours with what has happened in Victoria. Dr. R. H. Robinson, a physician who has had a very intimate acquaintance with that uncomfortable disease, gave expression to the following views about the hospital authorities to the Mail:

"Our general hospital is a great institution; all the medical skill of the two colleges is centred there, and we must leave it to them to manage everything in the way of an epidemic that comes along. And so one day a great consultation was held over a poor fellow who had come into the hospital, and one distinguished professor of one school said it was chicken-pox, and another from the other school agreed with him and said he would not be afraid to sleep with the patient, and the Board of Health were notified that Toronto was invaded by no more serious invasion than chicken-pox, and the newspaper were told to announce that bulletin to the public, and we all took a long breath. Now we have another sigh, not of relief, but of sorrow that many a life may be lost, and all this disaster to happen by fooling with a shotgun. It's about time the medical colleges appointed a new Professorship on Smallpox, or that the Board of Health should mind its own business."

Dr. Robinson also related a case, similar to "poor Bryno's." He said:

"When I was in the smallpox hospital in 1872, a young gentleman, a veterinary student, was sent to the hospital as having smallpox. Coming in in the middle of the night, the night nurse was directed to place him in the ward with the others. On visiting his bedside next morning I saw a mistake had been made, by a most distinguished professor, too. The poor fellow had a hybrid form of scarlet fever and measles closing resembling the initial rash of smallpox. I bared his arm to see how he had been protected by vaccination, and was pleased to find he had been successfully vaccinated five weeks before, a fact which had been overlooked in the diagnosis. No, I need not give you the professor's name; all you need know is that the young man slept in the smallpox ward until he got over the measles and scarlet fever, and did not have a sympton of smallpox. It was a conclusive proof of the value of vaccination as a preventive. In fact a stronger case could not be wanted."

During the smallpox visitation of 1871, when Dr. Robinson was assistant physician at the Toronto general hospital, the city appears to have been unprovided with a smallpox hospital. Speaking of how the disease broke out the doctor said:—

"A servant in one of our largest hotels made up the bed of a traveller from Montreal, and in that way contracted the disease. She was isolated, or was supposed to be, in the top flat of the General hospital. A young doctor was deputed to look after her, as I was having my holidays. The first night after my return he was restless and breathed laboredly, suffering pain in his head and back. Next morning I discovered he had smallpox and removed him to the top flat in a room by himself, and gave imperative orders that none of the nurses should go near that ward. But being a great favorite, the nurses would steal a chance and slip up and rap at the door, and the nurse in attendance would answer how he was, and they would skip back again. This was afterwards learned, but too late. Eighteen of the patients throughout the wards were in this way infected, and half of them died before the smallpox hospital was got ready, and some more died of those who were brought over. I sometimes had two in the dead house at once to be carted off, without a friend to look upon them."

Believing smallpox to be a preventible disease, Dr. Robinson would enforce drastic measures:

"I would make it a law of the land that every person should keep thoroughly vaccinated or pay their own expense, as well as any death loss that might accrue through their neglect. And any Board of Health that would go partners with a general hospital in a smallpox epidemic, I would hold them strictly to account for the consequences."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The citizens of Victoria who look upon money expended in maintaining and beautifying Beacon Hill Park as thrown away will think the people of Toronto extremely extravagant. A return has been published showing the amounts spent on public parks and squares in that city during the past five years. In 1886 permanent improvements cost $10,049 and maintenance $21,449; in 1887 the figures were $60,806 and $33,634 respectively; in 1888, $25,411 and $43 661; in 1889, $80,551 and $45,415; in 1890, $17,055 and $52,507; and in 1891, $25,534 and $55,603.

The New Brunswick election reminds one very forcibly of a kaleidoscope. Early reports stated that the Government and Opposition forces were very nearly equal, and this, in conjunction with the defeat of Premier Blair, seemed to ensure the ultimate defeat of the Government. Since then the Government's majority has gone on increasing until it is now 15, which is a fair majority in a house of 41. This majority includes at least three independent members, who are not pledged to support either party. If this report is correct the Government's misfortune lies almost wholly in the defeat of the Premier.

Says the Toronto Mail:—"In changing from Mr. Dewdney to Mr. Daly the Government has parted with a gentleman who was politically no fighter, to take in another who has worked with and for the party, and is, moreover, enterprising and aggressive. What brought to Mr. Dewdney the sweets of office in such profusion was always a mystery to the Conservatives, with whom, as a matter of fact, he had little if anything in common. The only explanation is the esteem in which Dame Fortune held him. Mr. Dewdney seems, indeed, to have been born lucky. In his latest official position he secures another valuable prize. But he will be a good governor, for he understands the business." Strange that those eastern papers should wonder about the secret of Mr. Dewdney's success. Have they never heard of his great ability and the faithfulness with which he has served the country? Why should they ascribe his political progress only to good luck? This irreverent way of talking about our new Governor will not do, and if the Mail is wise it will at once apply to the Empire and the Colonist for correct information on the subject.

PROFESSIONAL OPINIONS.

to prove that arm to arm vaccination was the best. In the case of one man who had had the smallpox the witness tried to vaccinate him with lymph several times without success. He vaccinated the man from another arm and in five days he had a "beautiful" arm. No one at the suspect station developed the disease from contact with suspects at the station, and he attributed this to their being vaccinated. Those who developed the disease must have caught the contagion outside, as the time it took to develope proved. Seven people developed the disease at the station.

There were 113 inmates at the station altogether. The bedding and bedsteads belonging to those who developed the disease at the station were destroyed. The bedding that the other suspects used was boiled and the tents disinfected.

The sanitary officer's wagon called at the station early every morning for orders for supplies. A fire was kept burning day and night to burn the refuse. Ross Bay, he considered, was the best place that could be found for an infectious disease hospital.

The Chief Justice—"Do you own any property there?"

Dr. Hasell continuing, said the principal thing to prevent diseases from entering the province, was to have an efficient quarantine. In England cholera was kept out although it was much nearer than any disease is to Victoria. There should certainly be a provincial board of health composed of medical men; men versed in modern science. Then there should be a thorough system of drainage and a pure water supply, that could be easily obtained in Victoria. Vaccination and revaccination should be compulsory, as if vaccination was universal smallpox would be almost extinct. All infectious fevers should be reported to the health officer, and the patients attended to in a properly built infectious disease hospital. There should be a suspect steamer in connection with the hospital. The provincial board of health should be appointed by the Government. It is essential to have a provincial health officer who could act as chairman of the health board. The bodies of those who die from infectious diseases should be cremated, but if this could not be done, they should certainly not be buried in the ordinary cemeteries. Private house quarantine is absurd. Cases of cholera, smallpox, scarlet fever, measles and typhoid fever should be sent to an infectious disease hospital. The hospital should be a group of buildings. There should be four separate wards in the hospital. The Dominion Quarantine officer should have a much freer hand than he has, as he is so far from the seat of government.

The commission adjourned at 2:20 for half an hour.

THE NEW JOCKEY CLUB.

Arrangements Made for the Formation of a Jockey Club at Mount Tolmie.

Leading Sportsmen and Influential Men Back the Scheme to Build a Track.

Various circumstances have lately led the Victoria Jockey Club to look for new and more permanent quarters, and there have been at the same time several enthusiastic spirits seeking for a way for the old club out of its difficulties. This was found in an offer which Mr. J. H. Brownlee submitted to the directors of the V.J.C. some weeks ago, and which was very favorably regarded by a majority of the board and members.

The gist of the Brownlee offer, which has now resolved itself into the Mount Tolmie Turf Club, is to assume all the liabilities and assets of the old club and put everything on an entirely new footing.

The new track which will be built on an admirable site, will be full half mile, with a galloping course, the latter to be used for exercising and training, thus saving the race course proper. The stables and appurtenances will all be on a thoroughly modern basis, as a glance at the specifications submitted to the V. J. C. will show.

Financially the offer, backed as it is by the best blood in the old institution, is an open door out of the latter's present condition, and is being warmly endorsed as such. At a meeting of the promoters of the new club yesterday the details of the scheme were laid open and fully discussed, and the secretary, Mr. R. F. Tolmie, was requested to forward the following motion to the V J.C., which is practically submitting terms of union:—

"That the subscribers to the Mount Tolmie Turf Club do make the following offer to the Victoria Jockey Club:

"That the new club will accept all the assets and liabilities of the old club, on condition that the Victoria Jockey Club will give the Mount Tolmie Turf Club the good will of the old club's business, belongings and appurtenances, real and personal, and also guarantee to subscribe stock in the new club to the cash value of $8000, this to be obtained independently of the promoters of the Mount Tolmie Turf Club.

"And that the promoters request the secretary to lay the proposal before the Victoria Jockey Club immediately."

It is expected that in a few days the final arrangements will be made and the contracts let for the building of the new track.

ADDRESS TO BISHOP HILLS.

The Congregation of St. Mark's Feelingly Bid Him Adieu.

A deputation from St. Mark's church waited upon Bishop Hills yesterday afternoon and presented the following farewell address,

To the Rt. Rev. Father in God, George, Lord Bishop of Columbia.

We, the priest and congregation of St. Mark's church, Victoria, desire to express our heartfelt sorrow at your near departure from this diocese, over which you have presided with noble self-sacrifice and true missionary zeal for above a generation.

We especially wish to thank your Lordship for that policy of establishing churches in every centre of population, which you have consistently pursued during this period in imitation of the practice of primitive Christianity, and from which we have all benefitted.

Our prayers will follow you to the land of your fathers, where God grant you may spend many peaceful and happy years.

We remain your Lordship's children in Christ.

Here follow the signatures of all the male members of the congregation above 21 years of age.

The Bishop having feelingly responded, the deputation withdrew.

The names of the deputation were Messrs. E. Murton, J. Russell, churchwardens; William Graham, synod delegate; Coulbeck, Davidson, Watts, Theobald.

Portland Cement.

F. G. Jordan, of 37 Queen's Avenue, has manufactured a sample of Portland cement from materials procured within twenty miles of Victoria, which he claims to be equal to the best English article. He proposes to prove to the satisfaction of builders and architects that the cement is in every way equal to the best, and to do so will submit it to the usual tests. Mr. Jordan has only erected a one barrel furnace, for experimental purposes, and pulverizes the clinkers after burning by hand. If successful in removing the prejudices against a home-made article, he will go into the business of cement manufacture and will thus add a valuable industry to the province. His efforts merit encouragement and the co-operation of those mostly concerned—the builders of the city.

Good for Tom Wright.

Captain Thomas Wright of Seattle, formerly owner of steamer Eliza Anderson, seized by Collector Beecher in 1886 and afterwards released put in a bill for damages to the United States government. The last congress recommended that he be paid $25,000 but Mr. Wright claims $40,000 and the case is now before the court of claims.

Delayed by Fog.

The steamer City of Kingston did not arrive until 6:30 last evening, having been delayed by the fog. She sailed again from the outer wharf at 8:30.

CORRECTION.

To the Editor:—In the report in your issue of last evening of the congregational meeting in St. Andrew's church, you state that the managers refrained from voting and that there were 16 managers. As this statement gives a false impression, I would simply state that only 13 managers were present, and that Mr. Finlayson and Dr. Milne were not in sympathy with the action of the managers, so that the result would not have been affected by their vote. Preparing for Dedication.

All will be in readiness for the opening of the new Catholic cathedral on Sunday. The altars are being dressed to-day and the entire building dusted and swept out. Nearly all the clergy in the diocese who are to participate in the dedication are already here.

To Grade Princess Avenue.

Ald. Baker has given notice that he will move at this evening's meeting of the council that steps be taken to grade Princess avenue between Government and Douglas streets, and that a sidewalk be laid on both sides of the avenue, the work to be done under the local improvement by-law.

His Worship's Matins.

An informal meeting of the city council was held this morning in the committee room. Several matters of importance were discussed principally in reference to the sanitary department which the public are of opinion should show more intelligent energy and effort in keeping the city clean.

Their Annual Masquerade Ball.

Milton Lodge, Sons of St. George, intend holding their annual masquerade ball in Assembly Hall on Friday, November 18th. Judging from the splendid time everybody had last year at this delightful affair there should be a rush for tickets this time. The Sons of St. George are unexcelled as entertainers.

Returned to Victoria.

Dr. J. K. Garrow, who practised successfully in this city for several years, has returned again, after an absence of a year and a half in Washington and Oregon. He may be consulted at either his residence, 85 Superior street, or at his office in the Wilson block, at hours mentioned in his card in another column. *

The Hills Memorial Window.

The English church laity have decided to commemorate the memory of Bishop Hills by placing a stained glass window in the new Christ Church cathedral. Every church in the diocese will be asked to co-operate. Subscriptions as high as $1 will be accepted. Bishop Hills will be presented with a farewell address.

Will Resign.

The managers of St. Andrew's church met last night in the vestry and discussed the results of the congregational meeting held on Monday night and resolved to call another meeting of the congregation on Monday evening next 31st inst., for the purpose of tendering their resignation in a body. The managers are unanimous in the decision arrived at.

The Police Blotter.

Justice of the peace Shakespeare presided in the police court this morning. Fred, an Indian, drunk, was fined $5. Dr. Richardson, of the quarantine hospital was summoned for setting fire to suspect house without notifying Chief Deasy. It was explained that a man named Gordon had mistaken the instructions of Dr. Richardson. Case withdrawn.

Awaiting an Answer.

Captain Cutler has received no reply to the challenge which he issued in behalf of his schooner, the Agnes Macdonald, for a race with any schooner in the fleet, and it is not likely that there will be any race at all. This will be regretted as the character of the proposed race had attracted public attention and the opinion was general that the event would have proved very interesting.

To Inspect Survey Ships.

S.M. Ackley, Lieut.-Commander U.S. N., and chief hydrographic inspector of the coast and goedetic survey service, is in San Francisco for the purpose of inspecting the steamer Gedney, at present here, and the steamers Hassler, McArthur and Patterson now at San Francisco. The four vessels are good enough for inside work, but the trips up and down the coast and to Alaska are too much for them. Another vessel will no doubt be built. She will be made a strong sea boat.

A Ploughing Match.

Ten gentlemen, each the owner of a team of draught horses, have arranged for a ploughing match, which is to take place on a Mount Tolmie farm on the 5th of November. The entrance fee is $25, making a purse of $250, $175 of which is to go to the first team and $75 to the second. Each team is to plough one-third of an acre, and must complete the work inside of four hours. The umpire and referee will go over the grounds after the work is done. The owners will draw for the choice of ground.

Everything in Readiness.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary have been busy all day decorating Assembly Hall for the charity ball to be held this evening. The hall has been completely transformed, the walls and ceiling being covered with bunting, flags and evergreens. Pretty little corners have also been arranged in different parts of the hall. The tables in the large dining room have not been forgotten, a party of ladies having been busy there all day, arranging bouquets and pretty glassware. The Warspite band will supply the music for the dances. The ball will be formally opened at 8:30.

A Reward for Truth.

The statement that Paymaster Sullivan of the U.S.S. Mchican was dismissed from the service for giving out a false and malicious report of the seizure of the Coquitlam, is itself false and malicious. Lieut. Sullivan, flushed a little with wine after a dinner at the Rainier Club, Seattle, told a story about affairs in the north that contained too much truth for the U.S. government. It favored the Canadian side of the question too much. He said, that the naval officers had, up to this year, always been afraid of the fur company, and that this season the sea otter fleet had all been seized. His statements expressed in private and given in confidence were printed and he was dismissed from the service.

COQUITLAM COMMISSION.

Further Evidence Heard by the Court To-Day.

The commission taking evidence in the Coquitlam case resumed its sitting in the Board of Trade rooms this morning, Judge Deweese and Mr. E. C. Hughes, the lawyers in the case, having come over from the Sound last night. Captain Grant was put on the stand as the first witness. His testimony recited the details of the trip and bore out the testimony of Captain McLellan and other previous witnesses in every vital particular.

Acting Shipping Registrar Robbins then went on the stand and testified to the registration of the various schooners which were provisioned, excepting the schooners Libbie, Brenda and Umbrina. These are registered in Nova Scotia.

At 12:30 the commission adjourned until 2 o'clock.

Both the lawyers and Commissioner Myers are very anxious to get through with the work as rapidly as possible, and night sessions, beginning to-night, are talked of. No decision has yet been reached as yet as to whether or not this will be done.

In the afternoon Mate Freeman, of the Coquitlam, gave evidence. Witness told of the transfer of the skins off Tonki Bay. He denied that there were any supplies transferred in Tonki bay, mails excepted. Witness rowed in a small boat into Port Etches harbor with a letter from Capt. McLellan of the Coquitlam, to any man-of-war that might be in the bay. No man-of-war was in the bay. Witness rowed back to the Coquitlam The Coquitlam entered the harbor. Witness went in a boat for water. It was between midday and two o'clock when the Corwin seized the Coquitlam.

Engineer William Parker, of the Coquitlam stated that the propellor of the Coquitlam made 130 revolutions per minute from Cape Tonki to the place of transfer of the skins in the open sea. This would equal seven and a half miles. In returning to Tonki Bay the propellor made 140 revolutions a minute and he calculated that the return distance would be half a mile more. Upon cross-examination by Judge Dewees witness admitted that his calculations were given from the number of revolutions the Coquitlam usually made. The rate of speed in the same number of revolutions was governed by the state of the weather, the tides, wind, and perhaps the currents.

Thomas E. Earle was giving evidence when the Times went to press.

There are several important witnesses to be yet examined, and it is doubtful if the commission will be closed until Friday or Saturday.

NANAIMO NOTES.

St. Alban's Bazaar a Success—another Levanter—Fire Bugs.

Nanaimo, Oct. 26.—The opera house presented a charming appearance yesterday, when St. Alban's church bazaar was held. The hall was beautifully adorned for the occasion. A few minutes after 3 Mayor Haslam, accompanied by Mrs. Haslam, in a few well chosen words, declared the bazaar open. The visitors were numerous during the afternoon, and the fair attendants in charge of the stalls were kept exceedingly busy. The paintings of local scenes attracted considerable attention, and a few of the pictures brought handsome prices. The bazaar was a success. In the evening the hall was cleared, and a concert and dance was given which brought the event to a happy conclusion.

Another individual named Ed. Dhermilly, the late popular proprietor of two restaurants, has suddenly taken his departure without settling his accounts. His loss is mourned by quite a number of creditors who are most anxious to ascertain his whereabouts. The butcher's bill is about the heaviest, but some of it is assured, as a garnishee has been obtained against the boarders' account. The storekeepers have not grown any wiser, and are now wondering who will be the next to "let them in."

Mr. J. Coutson reported to the police yesterday that an attempt was made on Saturday night to set his house in the "five acre" blocks on fire. Mr. Coutson has good grounds for suspicion against certain parties, and this has been imparted to the police.

The French syndicate was closed yesterday at the instigation of Simon Leiser, who holds a mortgage on the business. If the affairs of the syndicate can be satisfactorily adjusted the store will be opened again in a few days.

Alex. McLean, on Monday fell and broke his thigh. He was recently discharged from the hospital where he had been suffering from two broken legs, the result of an accident while employed in the mines.

Mr. C. Newcomb brought an enormous panther to the city yesterday, shot on Gabriola island last Saturday. The brute is the largest of its kind ever seen in these parts. H. D. Simpson purchased the carcase and will have the skin tanned, after it which it will adorn his parlor.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. are arranging for a conversazione to take place in the opera house on Friday, Nov. 18th. The association is sadly in need of funds. The institution is certainly deserving of better support.

Must be Vaccinated.

Dr. Milne, the city health officer visited all the public schools yesterday and left an order that all the children would have to present vaccination certificates to-day. Those who do not present them will be vaccinated.

It is found that some of the children have been detained at home on account of their parents not wishing them to be be vaccinated. Dr. Milne is anxious that all should be vaccinated, and if steps are not taken by parents to have their children vaccinated, more rigid steps will be taken to have it done. Means will also be taken to have all Chinese vaccinated who are not yet protected.

Annual Sale of Work.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian church have decided to hold their annual sale of useful and fancy work in the hall, Craigflower road, Victoria West, on Tuesday afternoon and evening, 8th November, in aid of the church building fund.

Drink California Wine. Cal. Wine Co., Nos. 55 and 57 Broad St.

A special meeting of the Board of School Trustees will be held at the city hall on Thursday, the 27th instant, at 8 p.m.

T. B. Corey, superintendent of the Oregon Improvement Co.'s mines in King County, Washington, is in the city.

Suppose

Suppose the twinkling stars should strike,
And turn their silvery gleams
From earth to other planets where
They get more for their beams;
Do you suppose the soldier boys
When going into camp,
Would miss the simple starlight, if
They had

Lamp?

THE "NICE FELLOW."

A Personage Who Reigns Supreme in Many Parts of the World.

Distinguished Men Who Suffer Because They Cannot Make Themselves "Nice Fellows."

It is only in the church and in moral reform institutions that the weak brother is allowed to rule. The children of light are rarely as wise as the children of this world.

The weak brother has a cousin who reigns supreme in more worlds than Alexander ever dreamed about. We mean that personage known as the nice fellow. We shall not attempt to describe the nice fellow. There is not room enough in this corner to mention his varieties and bring out his points. People who have seen him know something about him, and those who have not seen him can never be made to understand him by any written description.

Now just here let it be granted that a pleasant manner is a good thing—not a great thing by any means, for some inconceivably small men have a good manner—but a good thing. Let it also be assumed that in these days of continual voting in Church and State and keen competition in business it is a misfortune for a public man to have an unpleasant manner. It is a misfortune even to be reticent, or retiring, or to have a constitutional dislike for furs and feathers. Let all this be assumed and still the fact remains that one of the weakest points in the self-government of both Church and State is the reign of the nice fellow. An imbecile smirk is considered of more importance than sound principle; a stale joke is preferred to sensible speech; hypocritical enquiry about the wife and family is a greater matter than intellectual ability, and a shake from the fin of a social and financial shark is more appreciated than a clean record and pure morals.

On each side of the ocean there is a man suffering to-day simply because he is not what is called a nice fellow. President Harrison is universally admitted to be a clean man, and no one denies that he has given the republic clean government. To keep a public and private record untarnished at Washington for four years is a great thing. Of course Canadians do not like the president's trade policy, but what of that? He is a Protectionist, and was elected to carry out a Protectionist policy. Who can blame him if he does so? Though a good clean man and a thoroughly sound Republican, Harrison came near defeat in his convention. The chief objection to him was that his manner was cold. He was not "magnetic." He does not draw. Being a Presbyterian elder, he does not tell rank anecdotes and slap the "boys" on the back and ask them to drink. He doesn't go to the races and bet, nor does he associate with gamblers, blacklegs, debauchers and other American citizens of that kind. Underneath the expressed objection that Harrison was not magnetic there was probably the unexpressed but more powerful one that he would not allow some of the leaders of his party to steal.

The man on the other side of the water who suffers because he is not considered a nice fellow is the Hon. Edward Blake. Now, as a matter of fact, Edward Blake is a charming man to talk with if he is in good health and there is anything worth talking about. We had a pleasant and most profitable talk with him one evening on the deck of a steamer on the Lower St. Lawrence. He was returning from Prince Edward Island, and knew more about the island than most of the people who live there. In a few minutes he gave in a highly condensed form a history of the island, a description of its climate, with statistics of its productions down to the last bushel of oats. Then he branched off to the Saguenay timber trade, and that led to Norway and its shipping and its timber productions. Back again to Canada, he explained historically and otherwise the French system of holding, dividing and subdividing lands, and contrasted it with the primogeniture system of England. We were younger at that time than we are now, and did little more than tap the great commoner and let the accurate information flow. When he had finished we wondered for a while whether we ever knew anything or not. It was a well-spent hour. We never spoke to another man who seemed to know everything and knew it accurately. Principal Grant comes nearer the great commoner in universality of knowledge than any other man we ever spoke to. Alexander Mackenzie was infallibly accurate in certain lines, but though a great reader, he had not gone over as wide a field as Mr. Blake.

Years afterwards we were put down beside Mr. Blake at dinner in a friend's house, along with sundry Grits. While the turkey was being carved, we ventured, after some little hesitation, to draw him out on the methods of preparing speeches. The starting point was a book he had read, and which he did not seem to suspect any mere country parson had ever seen. With an amount of modesty not always seen in great men, and never seen in small ones, he explained his methods of preparation, and gave his reasons for and against several other methods. It was a good half hour. We learned a good deal, and were much surprised to find the great orator never wrote even his most polished perorations. We asked him particularly about two that made a powerful impression, and he said he could not have written them because he never wrote any. His method was to put such passages through a mental process that was the equivalent of severe writing. His pen was never used except in arranging ordinary matter.

Mr. Blake suffered not a little in Canada because he was not what is known as a nice fellow. A simpering dude with a head so empty that an idea in it would sound like a marble in a teapot could easily get more cheers than Mr. Blake in some communities we know. A vulgar tirade of abuse, stuffed with stale anecdotes and spiced with profanity could raise a guffaw where Mr. Blake's polished eloquence would not be listened to. The hon. gentleman has not the ghost of a chance in some constituencies against unclean fellows who would take the free and independent into the bar, fill their stomachs with vile whiskey and their minds with vile stories.

It is said that the electors of Longford are beginning to complain already because their new member is not a nice fellow.

Hard-headed Scotchmen never pay much attention to the nice fellow. You scarcely ever see a Scotch congregation call a dude, or a Scotch constituency elect a member merely because he is a nice fellow. Scotchmen admire strength, skill, character, capacity, power of some kind.

It is not a little ominous that the nice fellow is a little influential in Canada just in proportion as the community is Canadian. Select any community or congregation in which "is he nice?" is a more important question than is he able? or, is he capable? or, is he brainey? or, is he influential? and you will be certain to find a community or congregation nine-tenths Canadian. Dr. Chalmers never asked, is he nice? He always asked, Has he weight? Palmerston always asked, Has he resources? When a majority of our people ask nothing more than, is he nice? Macaulay's New Zealander may pack his gripsack and take a ticket for Canada instead of London.

Young ladies who might know better too often make shipwreck of life by marrying young men simply because they are nice fellows. They soon find to their sorrow that the nice fellows are often the most useless, most heartless and insipid of bipeds.—Knoxonian, in The Canada Presbyterian.

THE INJURIOUSNESS OF WAR.

Camille Flammarion Describes Its Ghastly Significance and Gives Figures.

War is not only an unnecessary scourge, but is more injurious than all others, for it never comes alone; sickness, ruin and famine always follow in its path. But that we may be fully enlightened about the extent of human folly, no picture is more instructive than that of national budgets and of the manner in which national resources are spent.

A great amount of money is necessary in order to kill in proper manner, for each man slain costs about $7,900. The continually increasing and multiplying taxes of all nations are never sufficient to pay for the butchery of human troops. Every year Europe spends more than $1,200,000,000 in shedding her children's blood; and in France alone we spend $400,000 every day. The war in America did not cost less than $16,000,000,000. Since the Crimean war down to that of 1870-71, the civilized nations of Europe and America spent in destroying one another $10,000,000,000 of the ordinary budget and more than $11,000,000,000 raised expressly for the purpose, making a total of $21,000,000,000. The wars of the last 100 years have cost the sum of $140,000,000,000, without counting the sorrow, the loss of men and other deplorable results.

For a part only of this fabulous sum all the children might have been brought up and educated gratuitously, all lines of railway might have been built, provision might have been made for the attempts to realize aerial navigation; customs, town dues and all obstacles to freedom of trade might have been suppressed; all destitution might have been removed except that caused by idleness and infirmity; we might perhaps already be able to communicate with the inhabitants of other worlds! We might have been able—but what are we saying? We might have been happy, and we do not wish to be.—Camille Flammarion.

Penseroso.

Soulless is all humanity to me
To-night. My keenest longing is to be Alone, alone with God's grey earth that seems
Pulse of my pulse, and consort of my dreams.

To-night my soul desires no fellowship,
Or fellow-being; crave I but to slip
Thro' space on space, 'till flesh no more can bind,
And I may quit for aye my fellow-kind.

Let me but feel athwart my cheek the lash
Of whipping wind, but hear the torrent dash
Adown the mountain steep, 'twere more my choice
Than touch of human hand, than human voice.

Let me but wander on the shore night-stilled,
Drinking its darkness 'till my soul is filled,
The breathing of the salt sea on my hair,
My outstretched hands but grasping empty air.

Let me but feel the pulse of Nature's soul
Athrob on mine, let seas and thunders roll
O'er night and me, sands whirl, winds, waters beat,
For God's grey earth has no cheap counterfeit.

—E. Pauline Johnson, in the Lake Magazine.

Anarchy Must be Wiped Out.

Homestead appears to be in a condition of absolute anarchy. There is no security there of life, property, or personal liberty. The representatives of the public press are dictated to how they shall report events; and are threatened with bodily injury if they do not obey. Since the greater part of the troops has been withdrawn, the men have become more open in their violence and more outrageous in their threats. Illegal arrests and inquisitions are ordered there. Homestead to-day is a blot and a shame upon the whole country, and a disgrace to the State of Pennsylvania.

It is time that the conditions at Homestead, as forcibly and truthfully set forth by Gen. Snowden, should receive the full and complete consideration of all who are for the maintenance of law and order. Anarchy of all kinds must be put down, not only among the ignorant, the vicious, and the depraved, but in the public press.—N. Y. Sun.

No Sentiment in the Kitchen.

Of course, the preparation of tasteful and nutritive food is a vocation in no sense mean. It may be made noble. Much in the development of growing children and in the health and temper of adults may be controlled by good cooking. Much of culture and refinement may be expressed and taught by exquisite dishes. But there is no reason for surprise that women do not take to the work with enthusiasm. No one need be surprised that they avoid it when they can. Of all the vocations woman can choose it exacts most from her and yields her less in return.

Not until we all become angelic, and nymphs at table are regaled with food a seraph fetches, will the kitchen be a woman's ideal temple.—Chicago Herald.

Conduct of Parents.

The father and mother may be crabbed toward each other and overbearing toward the children. The oldest child will be a faithful reproduction of that wretched picture. It will be domineering toward the younger children, and the exhibition will go on down through the line until it reaches the youngest child, and in absence of anything else that it dare boss and abuse, it will spank the doll and kick the cat; and altogether it is a nice lot of human nature to launch upon the world, but it is the legitimate product of such home training.—Science of Health.

HALL AND FITZSIMMONS MATCHED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The directors of the Coney Island Athletic Club held an important session at the club house at West Brighton yesterday. It was decided to bid for the contest between Fitzsimmons and Hall, and Judge Newton, the matchmaker of the club, was authorized to offer a purse of $16,000 for the men to do battle. Judge Newton immediately cabled Geo. W. Atkinson, of London Sporting Life, the result of the meeting, and instructed him to see Hall. At a late hour Mr. Atkinson cabled that he had notified Hall of the offer and that the Australian had accepted with an understanding that the fight was to take place in April. Hall will leave England for this country next month, and sign the articles of agreement as soon as he arrives. Judge Newton will visit Fitzsimmons, who is now in this city, today, and if possible get him to place his signature to the articles of agreement. The amount of the purses offered by the Cony Island Athletic Club for this contest, on which hangs the middleweight championship of the world, is $10,000 more than that of the Olympic club of New Orleans. Alex. Greggains, accompanied by his trainer, Martin Murphy, arrived in this city from San Francisco yesterday. They immediately repaired to the Coney Island Athletic Club, where Judge Newton signed Greggains to fight Martin Costello, for a purse of $2,500, the contest to take place next month. The men will fight at 158 pounds. Greggains left last night for Boston, where he will train for the fight.

THE CHOYNSKI-GODFREY MILL

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—There will be a representative gathering around the Coney Island athletic club's arena next Monday night. Sports from almost every state in the union will be on hand to witness the fistic argument between Choynski and Godfrey. Steve Brodie made a bet yesterday with Nail Brothers of Sixth avenue, George Dixon's backers, of $450 against $500 that Choynski would prove the winner. Gunst, the Californian, bet $200 even that Choynski would win. Daniel McClinch can't see how Godfrey can lose, and is willing to bet any part of $2000 on his choice. Warren Lewis, Fred Taral, Al. Powell, David Johnson, Donohue and Hardy Campbell are all Choynski men. "Honest John" Kelly took a bet of $500 against $450 on Godfrey, and wants to bet $500 more on the same odds. A well known New Yorker received a commission of $5000 from a syndicate of Boston sports to place on Godfrey, but was instructed to wait until the odds got to even money.

Theodore Parker's Resolutions.

When Theodore Parker was married, it is said that he entered in his journal on his wedding day the following resolutions:

1. Never, except for the best of reasons, to oppose my wife's will.
2. To discharge all duties for her sake freely.
3. Never to scold.
4. Never to look cross at her.
5. Never to worry her with commands.
6. To promote her piety.
7. To bear her burdens.
8. To overlook her foibles.
9. To save, cherish and forever defend her.
10. To remember her always in my prayers. Thus, God willing, we shall be blessed.

True Philosophy.

It was 3 a. m. and the morning was very cold.

In fact it was the dead of winter.

And the winter had been one of the coldest for years.

Joggerly was the father of twins.

Misfortunes never come singly.

They were six months old, and they were fretful any noisy.

Joggerly had been heard to swear to them.

Yet he was not a profane man, ordinarily.

On the morning referred to above, Joggerly had been called from his warm bed to attend to the twins.

This attention consisted of trotting up and down the floor with one on each arm.

Mrs. Joggerly was deploring the necessity which brought her husband to such straits.

Joggerly was philosophic.

"After all, my dear," he said, looking down upon them, "it is the little things which worry us most."

And the twins howled.—Detroit Free Press.

Preaching Under Difficulties.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 26.—The border town of Eagle Pass has had a revival during the past week, carried on in a remarkable manner by the Rev. W. G. Rutledge. The services have been held nightly in a saloon of the place. The meetings have not interfered with the liquor traffic to any great extent, for while the minister was exhorting on one side, the bar tenders were kept busy handing out whisky and beer on the other, cheerfully accepting any offer to shake dice for the drinks. The audience have been in the main respectful to the Rev. Rutledge, and have listened attentively to his sermons.

From the Juneau Mining Record.]

The inconvenient and costly duties entailed on jurors summoned to Sitka inflict a great hardship on miners and workingmen.

For the purpose of advertising the immense mineral resources of Alaska the Mining Record contemplates issuing an edition of 20,000 copies for free distribution from Alaska's mineral exhibit at the World's Fair.

Among the World's Fair notes in the Alaska Herald is a paragraph stating that one of the redwood trees of California, 3600 feet high and more than 30 feet in diameter is to be carried across the continent in a specially constructed train. There must be a slight mistake of a few feet in the height of this tree.

It would be of some importance to miners going into the Yukon country next spring to receive information at the hands of Mr. Gauvreau, the Canadian government surveyor, as soon as it may be decided whether a road will be made. The sooner the better if the United States builds up a mercantile marine to do its own carrying trade and adopt a moderate tariff in place of the high protective tariff which creates millionaires and makes the poor poorer.

On Saturday last twelve miners arrived in Juneau from the Yukon country. There are three more on their way out. About the same number have gone out by way of St. Michael's; this making about thirty in all, leaving about 150 who will winter in the camp. Among those arrived is Mr. N. Silver, a well known pioneer who has been in the diggings two years. He confirms all statements given by Mr. N. McArthur in regard to an unnecessary excitement having been got up.

It is high time that the World's Fair commissioners should find out which is the Sabbath day, according to scriptures to annul the controversy as to whether it is the first or seventh day. Apropos, the days of the nineteenth century are different from those at the supposed time of the creation, and if, as doubtless is the case, a day was a period of time, say one thousand years or more, it would be rather awkward to close the fair on Sunday. The aforesaid commissioners have not only made a mistake in closing on Sundays, but somebody else has blundered in proclaiming the 21st day of October as the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus. This error, wilful or otherwise, is a bad example to the pupils of the public schools, many of whom may know better. However, as far as Alaska is concerned in these matters, it is of little moment.

Brotherly love is not at present in vogue among the journalists of Alaska. A gentleman named Frank F. Myers, manager of the Juneau Mining Record, seems to have incurred the displeasure of two gentlemen named Porter, who publish the Alaska Herald of Sitka. The Messrs. Porter express their opinions about Mr. Myers in the following manner:

"But just and fair criticism has not been the end and aim or intent of this Ishmaelite. With a lecherous instinct born of the lowest infamy, and in disregard of all public propriety and decency, he has pursued men with his vicious, dirty pen, nagging them, misrepresenting them, and grossly libeling them, not for any straw they have ever laid in his way, but merely to gratify the insatiable lust of his base born soul, a mind berefit of every principle of honor, every sense of shame, every attribute of manhood. For three long years now this inhuman ghoul has been busy at his hellish work of feeding upon the character of men, and in one instance at least has so succeeded in terrorizing a government official in high standing, by personal attacks upon him, as to draw a good round sum of "blood money" from him before he would let go. There is a certain person in Sitka who has been sending communications to the smut mill at Juneau. On one or two occasions he has taken the liberty to cast slurs at some of the public men here. The Herald is on to this combination, and it must stop, short off, or somebody will get a roasting that will make the hair stand up on the top of his head."

Among the other epithets with which the "article" is liberally sprinkled are these gems: fellow, vampire, blood leech, blackmailer, libeler, notorious criminal, carrion rot, law breaker, villain, cowardly knave, poltroon, dastard, leprous viper, pitiful dreg of humanity, maniac, etc. All this is about one man, and he still lives. The "article" in which this cataract of invective occurs is signed by one of the Porters. Another good example of their style appears in the editorial column:—

"Can any one tell us why the ruff scruff, rag-shag and bob-tail population of all our large cities vote the Democratic ticket? The Democracy have quit howling about that "Billion dollar" congress. Ha, ha, ha, there is a nigger in the fence. Bet you half a dollar!"

How to Sew in Whalebone Casing.

Hold the casing full as the sewing proceeds, whether it be put in by cat stitching or running. The latter is easier in this case. Insert the bone and draw the casing at each end until it is as smooth as the loose sewing will allow, fastening the bone in tightly at each end. This will cause the seam to be drawn very much tighter and smoother on the right side than if the casing had been put in plain.

How to Make Glycerin Balsam.

A glycerin balsam, good to whiten and soften the skin, to remove roughness and to relieve chapped skin, chilblains or any irritation, is made by taking one ounce of pure wax and two ounces of spermaceti to nine of oil of almonds, melting them with a moderate heat in a glazed earthen vessel, and adding three ounces of glycerin and the same of balsam of Peru. If preferred, twelve to fifteen drops of attar of roses is used instead of the balsam. Stir until nearly cold and pour into pots.

How to Take the Creases Out of Silk Handkerchiefs and Scarfs.

Moisten the surface evenly with weak glue applied with a sponge. Pin the handkerchief out smoothly on a bed until dry.

How to Keep Lace White.

Lay it in a box, sprinkling magnesia over it and through the folds. This can be easily shaken out when the lace is used. Magnesia will remove the oily substance which gathers on lace after contact with the hair.

How to Drain Water in a Sink.

Much of the disagreeable labor of removing screws and grounds from a sink is prevented by the simple expedient of pouring all but clear water into a tin can, whose bottom has been perforated, which stands in the sink. A flowerpot will answer somewhat the same purpose. They can be cleaned and scalded once a day, when the scraps they have caught are emptied out.

How to Wash Hairbrushes.

In enough hot water to dip the brush dissolve a piece of soda the size of a walnut. Dip the brush in and out without getting the water on the hands. When clean, put the brush in the sun or a warm place to dry, first rubbing the backs with a cloth. Soap and rubbing tend to make the bristles soft.

How to Take Out Ink Stains.

Dip the spotted part immediately in pure, melted tallow; then wash out the tallow and the ink will have disappeared.

How to Clean Books.

Dust them with a soft cloth, rubbing it firmly over the surface of the cover. If there is a great deal of dust the light traces can be removed by the use of bread or a soft rubber eraser. From the tops of leaves dust can be blown or brushed with a soft whisk.

How to Stop Cracks in Jars.

Mix equal quantities of white lead and white sand with enough oil to make it the consistency of putty. Apply over the cracked places and let it harden. It will become like stone in a few weeks.

How to Clean Precious Stones.

Wash them in soap and water, to which has been added a little ammonia, potash or pearlash. Dry in fine boxwood sawdust.

How to Remove Grape Stains from Carpets.

Wash them out with warm soapsuds and a little ammonia.

Critics have unanimously decided that Miss Howieson's interpretation of the works of Robert Burns is that of a student of no ordinary depth of thought and keen perception. It is the best that has ever been given to the public.

WESTMINSTER WIRINGS.

Narrow Escape From Death—New Indian Agent—A Mystery Cleared Up.

NEW WESTMINISTER, Oct. 26.—Eighteen Chinamen nearly met with a watery grave early yesterday morning, just below Birrell's cannery, on the south side of the river. These men are working for McDonald, making brush mattresses, and live in a scow house. Some person during the night, probably fishermen, bored a hole through the planks of the scow, just below the water line, with the result that it immediately commenced to sink. One of the Mongolians being astir sooner than his companions, noticed something wrong and had just time to rouse all on board and make a hurried exit to terra firma before the scow sank.

F. Devlin has been appointed Indian agent in place of P. McTiernan, who has resigned after 11 years service.

Justice McCreight has ruled that Davis cannot put in fresh affidavits in the motion to quash the Vancouver bonus by-law.

The coat alleged as having been worn by Beegan when seen the night of the murder of May Todhunter has been secured.

James Wise, an old timer, was thrown from his buggy yesterday and had his arm broken.

In May last an Indian, named Harry White, supposed to be fishing oolicans, mysteriously disappeared. Governor Moresby has been working on the case ever since with the result that an Indian named Jimmy is now in jail. When Harry disappeared Jimmy was with him that night and both left in a canoe for their ranches on the south side. Harry was never seen again. Yesterday one of his boats was found on the bank with marks of a body having lain there. The police are dragging the river as it is supposed the body has been weighted and sunk. The theory is that Jimmy killed Harry with an axe as he had a grudge against him. The same man figured in a murder case some years ago, but got off, his companion being hanged.
